H1001015CW 58 cm

Manneken Pis (Flemish for little man pee), also known in French as the Petit Julien, is a Brussels landmark. It is a small bronze fountain sculpture depicting a naked little boy urinating into the fountain's basin.

The famous statue, measuring 58 cm, is located at the junction of Stooftstraat & Eikstraat, near the Grand Place. The original statue was stolen several times.

In 1619 it was replaced by a bronze statue, created by Franco-Flemish Baroque sculptor Jerome Duquesnoy. On special occasions he urinates beer or wine instead of water.

There are several legends behind this playful statue, but the most famous is the one about a boy urinating on the burning fuse of explosives, charged at the city walls by the enemy, and thus saving the city.
