Subject: Conflict Mineral Declaration.

In July 2010, the United States Congress signed into law the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Regulation and Consumer Protection Act containing the Section 1502, that regulates conflict minerals.

Section 1502 requires companies that use the 4 minerals tantalum, tin, tungsten and gold for production of the product or for its functionality to assess their supply chain and publically report on the source of these minerals if they are sourced from Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) or adjoining countries.

Comeletric complies with all National and Global applicable regulations and hereby declares that Comeletric products do not have minerals originated in the DRC or the adjoining countries.
