Sequence Lotto

IMPORTANT
Print these 5 pages onto sturdy cardstock paper

tening Room

cept & Illustration by Dave Sindrey, M.CI.Sc. LSLS Cert. AVT

Here are two simple sequence stories about water. Use them each alone in one listening and language activity or both in a fun lotto game that will challenge even more.

To get ready print all of the sheets onto sturdy cardstock paper. Two sheets are guides and have titles across the top (Bath Time! and Wash the Car!). The other two sheets have the cards for the sequence stories. Cut out the six cards on each sheet.

To Play Game 1:

Choose one of the two sequence stories. Place the guide sheet face down and spread out the six sequence cards face up.

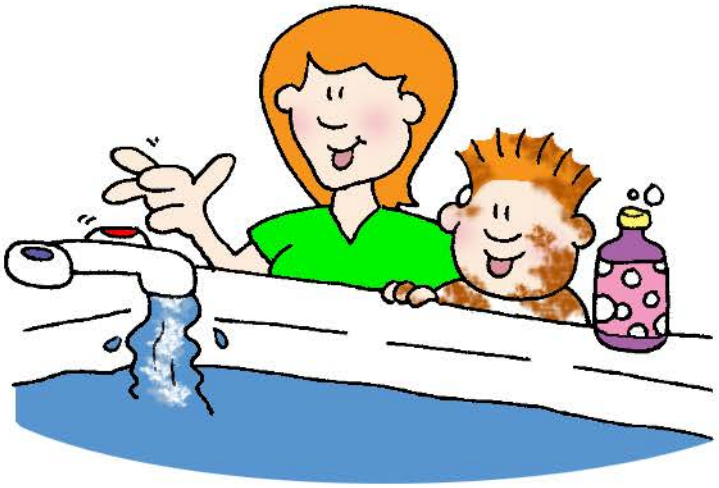
Take turns choosing a card and telling that part of the story. For example, player one would choose the first card of "Bath Time!" and say "The boy came inside covered in dirt and mud! The mom said "oh no! You need a bath!". Then that card can be laid down first in line. The next player chooses the next card in the story, tells that part and lays the card to the right of the first card. When all of the cards are laid left to right, turn over the guide to see if the cards are in the right sequence. You can then play a "hide-the-sticker" game. One player closes their eyes while the other player hides a sticker under one of the sequence cards. The player who hid the sticker then describes the part of the story shown by the card that is hiding the sticker (without looking at it). The other player should listen and then find the sticker. Take turns.

To Play Game 2:

This is a two player game. Each player should have a story guide face up in front of them. All twelve cards should be face down on the table. Player 1 starts by choosing a card and picking it up so that only he can see it. He should then tell the part of the story shown on the card. The other player should listen and then find the match on one of the two guide sheets. The card can then be placed on the matching picture and play passes to the next player. The player who collects all 6 pictures for his story is the winner! Have Fun!

©2011 Advanced Bionics, LLC and its affiliates.
All rights reserved.

Advanced Bionics



Dave Sindrey © 2012

Bath Time!

1

2

3

4

5

6

Dave Sindrey © 2012

Wash the Car!

1

2

3

4

5

6